SPORTS ENERGY DRINK

Nowadays, you not only need a sports drink to provide you with quick, sustained energy, but you also need a drink that will supply you with essential nutrients that need to be replenished to support an overall healthy body. Whether you exercise 2-3 times a week or are a professional athlete like retired NBA All-Star Theo Ratliff, in order for your body to perform its best, it needs nutrients to support a healthy workout and overall healthy body.

When your body is put to work, it uses up not only macronutrients such as carbohydrates, proteins, and fats, but it also uses up micronutrients, such as vitamins and minerals. Vitamins and minerals are responsible for a wealth of bodily functions, from helping to breakdown macronutrients for fuel, to helping transport oxygen to your cells. Make sure that your body is equipped with the right nutrients for optimal health!
